

1st John #47 “Living Like There’s No Tomorrow” 1st John 3:2

Whether we use our opportunity to live as children of God or not is a matter of self-motivation, not the influence of other people.

The authority of the pastor in the local church is always estab by his teaching of the Word and never by him bullying the congregation.

It’s true that we don’t know exactly what we will be but the believer who lives his life in the plan of God always has the hope or confidence that he’ll have a superior resurrection body in eternity in contrast to an inferior resurrection body and he’s also confident that he’ll have great rewards and blessings far above and beyond anything the person who lives in Satan’s cosmic world system will have.

Epignosis wisdom is experientially applied to our eternal future by the same system of concentration; only now it’s reverse concentration.

With reverse concentration by having biblical truth in our hearts or our frame of reference, we can make application to any situation in life.

The believer with biblical truth in his soul resulting in momentum in the plan of God produces this action of coming to know something very important.

Actually, if we’re not living as if we are ready to meet Jesus Christ, we’re living according to Satan’s desire for us anyway.

As Church Age believers or royal family of God, we’ll be similar to Jesus in His resurrection body and because of that, we’ll have the ability to see Him and be with Him.

We are God’s children and as the best Parent, He’s training us to be conformed to the image of His Son.
